THE NEW YEAR

Has Come With its Possibilities to Bring Joy or Sorrow.

The Saints Have Fared Sumptuously and Now Some Must Pay the Penalty—The Registrar's Troubles.

St. Matthews, Jan. 9.—The New Year has come with all its possibilities. What will it bring us of joy or sorrow? is yet to be revealed. The human family has inherited curiosity from Mother Eve. Yes, I know the women folks are told constantly that this characteristic belongs to them alone, but if any one will investigate the matter they will find much evidence of that trait in the other gender. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," is the best plan for all. It is indeed appalling to think of the responsibilities resting with each of us in keeping this record; it's some comfort to know that "Every day is fresh beginning, every morn is the world made new."

St. Matthews, Jan. 9.—The New Year has come with all its possibilities. What will it bring us of joy or sorrow? is yet to be revealed. The human family has inherited curiosity from Mother Eve. Yes, I know the women folks are told constantly that this characteristic belongs to them alone, but if any one will investigate the matter they will find much evidence of that trait in the other gender. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," is the best plan for all. It is indeed appalling to think of the responsibilities resting with each of us in keeping this record; it's some comfort to know that "Every day is fresh beginning, every morn is the world made new."

We have fared sumptuously every day since the holidays began, with the usual result that the doctors are having their inning. Now for indirection. "Every dog has his day." This week all have resolved to go back to plain fare and hard work, which is best for us all; if we do grumble and make wry faces, let them it the "giving of life."

The new registration law began Jan. 1st, and the natural law also began to affect the natives, namely, "kicking." Notwithstanding they can alter the decree they have determined to vent their spite on the registrar, consequently they are in a tangle at present, with the strong arm of the law on one side and the sassy public (I have a notion to call them publicans and sinners), on the other. We certainly will develop patience, however, in this new work, and my plan is to forge ahead on the right side, and when I think they have sassed a quarter's worth (or pay), I hang up the receiver.

Mr. William Rothenberg's little son, Louis Alexander, born Jan. 4th, has the distinction of being the first on the vital statistics list in this district. I shall use my influence in the next Legislature to have the many childless young married folks heavily fined for misdemeanor the same as those who fail to report increase in their families, which will benefit the state and themselves at the same time. No home is complete without children.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Herr have moved to Warwick Villa. We miss them, but are glad they stopped in our borders, so a weekly visit, at least, can be accomplished and we see their smiling faces at church every Sunday.

Mrs. Ida Standiford and Mr. and Mrs. J. Byron Standiford were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bluford Crenshaw, of near Mt. Washington.

Mrs. Ida Standiford will spend this week with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crenshaw, of Mt. Washington.

The Rev. T. H. Watkins, of Lexington, preached at Fairview Christian church Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Feggenbush entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of Bro. T. H. Watkins, of Lexington.

Misses Ruth and Mary Ellen Thibault, of Louisville, were the guests of Misses Edith Feggenbush, Ethel Hikes, Misses John Lanett, Erett Mills, John Kansler and Ernest Briscoe.

Mrs. T. S. Skiles spent Monday in Louisville.

I think folks can just get yourselves to witness another wedding soon. The most striking signs are evident, growing more and more striking each week. I shall not tell names and tales, too, until the last minute, but will hint at it, if I get sandbagged.

Mrs. R. O. Dorsey entertained some friends last Tuesday in her splendid style. The miserable weather raged cold and wet, but we managed to keep the pleasure of the day.

We are sorry to report the illness of our aged Aunt Angie Chamberlain, 90 years old. Hope she may recover and fill her seat at church again. We miss her so much.

several days this week with P. H. Brown's family.

OFFICERS

For Jefferson County Democratic Club Elected Jan. 7, 1911.

Capt. W. H. Able Unanimously Chosen As President and Other Prominent Men Named as Vice-Presidents.

The Jefferson County Democratic Club met at their headquarters, Beck's Hall in Louisville, Saturday, January 7, 1911, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. The meeting was called to order by the President, Capt. W. H. Able, who made an able and appropriate speech, explained the purpose of the meeting and called special attention to the good and useful work of the Club in behalf of the Democratic party, since its organization in the year 1903.

The officers of the club for the preceding meeting were dissolved and instead the Secretary was asked to read the Constitution and by-laws of the Club. After the reading of the Constitution, nominations to fill the different offices were ordered, and Capt. Able was placed in nomination by Mr. E. D. Waters in a neat speech, which nomination was easily seconded by Mr. M. F. Johnson.

At this point Capt. Able called Mr. Johnson to the chair. On motion of Capt. Able, the election of Capt. Able was declared acclamation.

Nest in order follows the election of four Vice Presidents, one from each magisterial district, all of whom were the unanimous choice of the Club and were elected in the following order:

Lee Barbour, First Magisterial District; Mr. F. Johnson, Second Magisterial District; John H. Smyser, Third Magisterial District; Harry Hartlage, Fourth Magisterial District.

J. W. Ward was re-elected Secretary and Treasurer and Mr. S. E. Potts was the unanimous choice for Sergeant at Arms.

The club by unanimous vote endorsed Capt. Able in his bid for Gov. H. A. Smith of Ohio to meet with the Club at their annual meeting on Feb. 22, and make an address in "Honor of the Father of our Country."

The place of meeting on Feb. 22nd was referred to the committee on arrangements, and will be published in the daily papers.

The standing committees as named by President Able are as follows:

Speakers Committee—Col. B. H. Young, Judge Thos. R. Gordon, Hon. C. O. Owings, Judge Jas. P. Gregory, Hon. B. Newcomb, Mr. E. R. Atkinson, Mr. P. S. Ray.

Committee on Arrangements—Col. M. F. Johnson, Squire Chas. C. Wheeler, Mr. J. P. Shively, Mr. E. D. Waters, Mr. Chas. Tyler, Mr. Joseph Kennedy, Dr. S. D. Weatherby.

Executive Committee—Squire Shih Hollis, Squire H. D. Robb, Squire R. O. Dorsey, Squire S. E. Potts, Mr. Sim Sturgeon, Mr. George Whips, Mr. Chas. Bryan.

There being no further business the Club adjourned to meet subject to the call of the chairman.

J. W. WARD, Secretary.

A Mississippi editor makes this appeal to delinquent subscribers: "Fish down in your pocket and dig up dust, the editor is hungry and the paper about to burst. We've trusted you for several months and did it with a smile, so just return the compliment and trust us for a while. Our wife she needs some stockings and baby clothes, too. Please send us some breeches and so do Kate and Boss. But on is the hog train and Peggy is sick with grief; good gosh almighty, can't you give a man relief. Shell out those nickels and turn loose the dunes, turn 'em loose and whistle and we'll have better times; there will be fewer patches on the bosom of our pants and we'd make the paper better if we had half a chance. Don't give us that old story, long gone to seed, bout taking more papers than the family want to read; but help the town to grow and thus escape the sulphur in the regions down below." ***

Good Roads Bill.

Within the coming months a special committee of five from the Kentucky Good Roads Congress will draft a good roads bill which will be presented at the next session of the State Legislature. The synopsis of the bill was approved by the Congress, which adjourned on Thursday afternoon, after every section had been approved with a few amendments.

The committee which will draft the bill is composed of H. A. Summers, of Elizabethtown; Senator Joseph F. Bosworth, of Middlesboro; George L. Pickett, of Shelbyville; Prof. W. W. Rowes, of the Kentucky State University at Lexington; and Senator George W. Ward, of Logan county. It has not been decided yet when a meeting of this committee will be called.

BOY DROWNED

Robert Hoffman Tries to Rescue
Older Brother.

Ice on Creek Near St. Matthews Treacherous and Lad Loses His Life—Parents Are Frostrated.

Courier-Journal: While trying to save his 14-year-old brother from drowning in a shallow creek on the Chenebough farm, near St. Matthews, Robert Hoffman, the 11-year-old son of John T. Hoffman, a carpenter, broke through the thin ice and lost his life shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. His brother, Phillip Hoffman, and Edwin Stich, aged 12 years, son of Jacob Stich, a farmer, were almost drowned, but were revived after physicians had worked on them for four hours.

The three boys had been warned by their parents to keep away from the pond, but when they got home after returning from school, they went to the place with William Minogue, a step-brother of the Stich boy, and began skating. Suddenly the ice gave way and Phillip Hoffman and Edwin Stich and they fell into the ice water. The other boys hearing their cries rushed to their aid. The ice bridge is about six feet deep.

Finally the younger Hoffman managed to pull his brother from the water, but the ice gave way again and they sank below the surface a second time. The two older boys managed to struggle to the shore by holding each other up, but it took until they reached a point shallow enough for them to stand on the bottom of the pond. Robert Hoffman struggled so hard to fight his way to shore and was drowned.

When the older boy reached the surface he fell unconscious.

During their struggles their cries attracted the attention of young Stich's father, Jacob Stich, and with Robert Emmereke, he rushed to the scene. The Stich junior dove into the ice water in hope of saving the Hoffman boy, but his efforts were futile. The other boys were taken to Mr. Stich's house, where Dr. William Brady and Dr. Frank Kiefer were summoned and the lad was finally revived.

John Hoffman, father of the drowned boy, heard of the accident, rushed to the pond and attempted to plunge into the water in the hope of saving his son, but was prevented from doing so by Mr. Stich and Mr. Emmereke. Mr. Hoffman is prostrated. Until they were found, the body of the Hoffman boy lay beside the side of the pond, pleading that he be allowed to go after the corpse.

Following the accident, County Patrolman William Bence, was notified and he communicated with Coroner Ellis Duncan, who had just been appointed by the newly-elected members of the crew of the United States Life Saving Station, sent to St. Matthews.

One great trouble was experienced by the life-savers in dragging the pond because of the ice which covered its surface. A heavy farm wagon was run into the pond and was prevented from doing so by Mr. Stich and Mr. Emmereke. Mr. Hoffman is prostrated. Until they were found, the body of the Hoffman boy lay beside the side of the pond, pleading that he be allowed to go after the corpse.

When the body was taken to the Hoffman home, Mrs. Hoffman collapsed. The lad is survived by his parents and brother.

While dragging the pond, Edward Farrell, one of the life-savers, impaled his right hand on one of the fishing hooks. Because of the fishhook arrangement at the end of the hook, it became necessary to file it in two in order to remove it. In his efforts to do this, although the wire caused him much pain, Farrell continued working after the hand had been dressed by Dr. Duncan.

Take a middle burster and lay off rows two feet apart and about eight inches deep. I take an onion droper, a patent of my own; it takes three rows at a time and two men can drop or plant one hundred drapers a day. I take the same plow and split the middles, that gives me three rows to lay off. I then lay off the ground ridge up and never leave the land level. As early as the ground will permit in the spring I take a five-tooth cultivator and run twice during the season. Then I take a potato plow and lay them by, ridged up well.

About July 4th my crop is ready to harvest, and in ordinary ground I will get from thirty to thirty-five pounds to the barrel. The seed heads are picked by hand and dried and threshed by hand or machine. I then crate to cut them in a tight box, storing them over winter. In about fifteen days I am ready to clean them for market. I have also a machine of my own make I use for cleaning, capacity two thousand pounds per hour. I can clean the seed in a short time, at a cost of only two cents a pound. The price I obtain for the seed varies with the market, from 60 cents to $1.00 per pound wholesale—H. A. ## Didn't Read The Paper.

CHAMP CLARK.

Champ Clark of brave Kentucky
With his gay Missouri mules
Will soon be making charmen
Under the Congress of the United States.
That statement is a trifle
May change from day to day
To give the law a wrinkle
And unite the Blue and Gray!

Champ Clark is daily rising
Like the splendid morning sun
From the mountains of Kentucky
And the trusts from Washington.
But when it comes to practice
He'll find that brains and gold
Still rule the world
As they did of old.

Republicans and Democrats
In the house and church and state
Are all acting for self interest
Quickly, easily, long and late
And though they are parties
Always with nerves and dash
Each one is working daily
To accumulate cold cash!

Champ Clark may take example
From Carlisle, Reed and Clay—
The greatest congress speakers
Who were not born to date.
But more than all this child of fate
May think himself quite lucky
To have been born with heart and brain
In glorious old Kentucky.

JOHN A. JOYCE
Washington, D. C., December 12, 1910.

Notice To Subscribers.

We dislike to take up space in The Jeffersonian calling the attention of subscribers to the fact that some of you are in arrears with your subscriptions. We do not do this professionally, than most country newspapers and discontinue subscription at expiration, but in a few cases, especially if the subscriber resides in Jefferson county, we let the subscription run for a few weeks.
Then if the subscriber does not pay up, we take his name off our list.

Now, if you, dear reader, are one of those subscribers in arrears (you can tell by looking at your label), please start the new year right by renewing your subscription at once. The Jeffersonian has endeavored to build up and help our home people and home institutions, and we need the help of all to continue the work. Help us and we will help you. Don't delay sending in your one dollar for a year's subscription. This can easily be done by mail, and will be greatly appreciated by us.

We are gratified to know that the Jeffersonontown Commercial Club has taken a new start and has prospects of accomplishing much good for our little community. We hope to see them increase, and if we ever expect to go with them, here we must organize and work in harmony, all pulling together for the good and for the uplift and improvement of Jeffersonontown and vicinity.

There is no better way to do this than coming together in the Commercial Club and discussing the needs of the community. There are many things we can get for our town if we wake up and go after them. What the commercial clubs are doing for other towns our commercial club can do for our town—if our people desire it should. Do you want to see Jeffersonontown improve? Do you want to see new enterprises started up here and the population increased? If so, join the Commercial Club and help many others in the boosting of these things for the town.

The Farmers Home Journal last week came out as a 24-page paper in magazine form, instead of eight pages in regular newspaper size as heretofore. The paper has been published for 65 years and is the best paper a Kentucky farmer could get for information pertaining to his business. The change in size is a decided improvement and we congratulate the managers upon getting out a farm paper that is a credit to the state.

HAVE you broken those good resolutions yet?

EVERY time you hear a fellow "knock" on his home town you may rest assured that he has made a failure of life and is sore on the world at large.

Apple Growing in Kentucky.

At a meeting of the Henderson Fruit Growers' Association, Mr. M. F. Johnson, president of the Horticultural Society of Kentucky, stated that Kentucky can and does grow fine apples as are produced in the West; that the counties of Henderson, Daviess, Union, and Webster constituted a great apple region. In growing this fruit these counties were to compete with the fruit-growing counties of Missouri, the Ohio River Valley to Oregon, and the Yakima Valley is to Washington." President Johnson said:

"At the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis in 1904, the exhibitor of wines apples from Henderson and Livingston counties beat every state in the Union. The president of the society at that time had charge of the exhibit at the World's Fair. The persons in charge of the California exhibit begged me to loan to them a hundred of these apples to put among their fruits. The Henderson county vines would have won a gold medal if the exhibit had not been closed arbitrarily."

"The apples grown right here in Kentucky are better in flavor than those shipped from the Pacific coast states to our markets, yet in Louisville I have to pay 5 cents for a good apple when I want one to eat. The people do not realize how great a fruit country this part of the state is made to be."

Fruit growing in the counties which Mr. Johnson named is in its infancy, but it has been the subject of increasing interest in recent years and will attract greater attention from land owners in the future. There are other sections of the state where apples may be grown successfully and profitably. It is a fact that the flavor of Kentucky-grown apples is superior to that of apples produced in the West. No one who has eaten Kentucky apples can say that Kentucky, but we are paying out untold thousands of dollars for apples from other states. This is a condition of affairs that should not be allowed to continue.—Our Country.

Mrs. Nellie Heming.

Mrs. Nellie Heming was called to her heavenly home on the evening of Dec. 28, 1910. She was the only daughter of W. H. and Annie Shibley, of Fern Creek. She was born May 22, 1889; was married to B. C. Heming, of Louisville, Jan. 28, 1909, who still survives her. She also leaves a father, W. H. Shibley, and three brothers.

Her love for her husband and children was unselfish. She loved her heartstone and friends better than self; and to her to make a sacrifice for them was counted a joy. At the age of sixteen she united with the Beulah Presbyterian church, under the preaching of Rev. E. W. Elliott, and remained a consistent member until her death.

Twice within the last month has the "Angel of Death" crossed the threshold of the church, calling faithful members to their eternal home. Though a sufferer for several weeks she bore her afflictions remarkably well. It was beautiful to witness how submissively and cheerfully she yielded to God's will. Just a few hours prior to her going away, her brother asked, "Sister, are you afraid to die?" He replied, "No, I am not afraid; my hand is in Jesus' hand and He will lead me through the valley and the shadows."

Then, after bidding them all good-bye, her spirit took its flight. Thus in the bloom of bright and promising youth she was taken.

To us it appears that she was needed here by those who best loved her, but we do not know as God knows. Good makes no mistake and some time we'll understand.

"Not now, but in the coming years. It may be, in the better land. We'll meet the reasoning of our tears, understand."

We grieve the broken bread of grain, and finish what we here began;

Heaven will the mysteries explain; And then, then, when we'll understand."

DAIRYMEN

Hear Lectures Upon Sanitary Conditions by Inspectors.

Warned to Have Things in First-Class Shape by Next Inspection, or Violators Will Be Prosecuted.

The dairymen of Jefferson county have been holding joint meetings with the representatives of the Louisville Health Department and representatives of the State Pure Food Commission at several points in the county this week. The milkmen were lectured regarding the sanitary conditions of their dairies and the score system of the sanitary inspections of their barns and the analysis of the milk samples was explained at length.

The meetings have been entirely harmonious, the dairymen entering into the discussion in a friendly way. Much interest was manifested and the officials who are pushing the crusade for clean and wholesome milk were greatly encouraged by the co-operation received from the dairymen.

Dr. W. E. Gary, city milk expert, explained the State laws to the Eastwood Wednesday morning and issued to the dairymen applications for permits to ship milk into Louisville during the year of 1911. The other members of the party were J. W. McFarlin of Franklin, State Food Inspector; Dr. W. R. Pinnell, of Louisville, State Food Inspector for this district, and A. B. F. Schurflus, of Lexington, State Food Inspector.

The score card of each dairyman was gone over and each was informed of what improvements would be required by the State Pure Food Commission. These improvements must be made or well under way when the next inspection of barns and dairies is made in April or spring or else warrants will be sworn out against those failing to comply with the law. The inspectors say they want to give the dairymen a fair chance, and are explaining to each how to improve conditions, and that they desire to work in harmony with the dairymen.

The members of the party report that they found conditions in Jefferson county fairly good. The dairies of Jefferson county are said to be more sanitary and the health of the herds better than in surrounding counties. Still it is not up to the standard that will be required, nor does it come up to the standards of Covington, Paducah and Bowling Green.

"The Nigger" at Masonic.

The thrilling scenes that make "The Nigger," which begins a week's engagement at the Masonic theater Monday, so remarkable, from a dramatic standpoint, take place in three-handsome and typically Southern scene settings. The play opens at "Morrow's Rest," showing the colonel abroad from a beautiful old Southern mansion. It is here that the audience is first introduced to Philip Morrow, the sheriff of Westbury county, and it is in this scene that the author daringly introduces some of the incidents immediately preceding a lynching.

In the second act Morrow has been elected governor, and the scene shows the governor's study at the executive mansion. It is here that Clifton Noyes, the distiller, endeavours to coerce the governor, who is coming to the bill, and finally, in his anger and disquietude, reveals to him that he is a negro. The third scene is in the governor's private room at the capital. The incidents are tremendous in their power and the effect they have upon an audience.

Guy Bates Post has never done anything better than his masterly and vivid portrayal of Morrow. Miss Florence Rockwell, to whom has been entrusted the role of the Southern girl, is said to be charming and sincere in this interesting character, and the author, who is himself a Southerner, is capable and experienced in his part. The seat sale opens today.

Removed to Jeffersontown.

As far as I am a hand of Durc., as can be found anywhere and invite inspection. The citizens of this community are proud to have these enterprising breeders locate their entire herd at this place.

Penn. Run Cemetery.

At a meeting of the trustees of Penn Run Cemetery, held Jan. 5, for the purpose of employing a sexton, it was found that the only bid was more than they felt they were justified in promising and pledging themselves to pay, so it was decided to call a meeting of patrons and friends for January 19, at 11 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of finding the will of the people in the matter, that is, concerning including money or promises of same, so we may know what to depend upon.

Some have been liberal and faithful in the past, and some have not. Where do you stand? If we cannot raise a good portion of this sum on this date a part of the trustees will resign, as we cannot keep on spending our time and standing good for the money that has not even been subscribed. If you want work to go on come, or if you can't come, let us know what to count on where to get it.

VITAL STATISTICS.

New Law Now in Effect—Deaths and Births
Must be Promptly Reported.

The new vital statistics law became effective January 1st and is now in operation. Considerable confusion has arisen because of lack of knowledge on the subject, and in different parts of the state, but at the registrars, physicians and undertakers become more familiar with their duties the workings of the new law will become easier.

Physicians are now required to report all births and deaths coming under their notice and attention to the local registrar of the district in which they occurred.

Undertakers are required to report all deaths to the registrar of the district in which they occur, and cannot remove or bury the bodies until they have received a death certificate and permit of removal from the registrar. Neither can a death certificate be issued until the death certificate has been properly signed by the physician who attended the deceased in his or her last illness.

Because of it containing a city of the first class, Jefferson county is separated into two divisions. One embraces the city and the other the county outside the city. Dr. W. E. Gray of the Louisville Health Office, has been appointed the registrar for the city, while County Health Officer Smock will have jurisdiction of the twenty-three registrars in the county outside the city.

Kentucky is the second State in the Union to adopt such strict vital statistic laws, the law being drafted after that of Michigan. It will insure a perfect record of birth and death and health reports. The law includes contagious diseases, requiring physicians to report to the County Health Officers as soon as they come to their notice.

In speaking of the improvement of records the new system will establish County Health Officer Smock said: "Enforcement of the vital statistics law will assure an almost perfect record of births and deaths. Last year about 350 deaths were reported to the County Health Officer, but at least 10 percent of deaths were not seen in. The birth reports numbered 170, when it should have been in the neighborhood of 400. Of the births reported not a single one was a negro, so you can imagine how incomplete the old records are."

All births and deaths occurring within the limits of the city will be reported to City Registrar W. E. Gray, at the City Health Office. Dr. Gary will have a detective and a stenographer to assist him.

Those occurring in the county outside the city will be reported to the registrars of the various districts. The districts were made up in accordance with the population of the voting precincts. The twenty-three registrars recently appointed and their districts are as follows:

"A local registrar may act as registrar to any local registrar of his county or adjacent county, and may sign the name of the local registrar in the district in which he is acting, and shall forward at once the death certificate to that local registrar, who will be paid the fee.

"The sub-registrar may charge the sum of twenty-five cents for his services, to be paid by the undertaker. Given under my hand this 6th day of January, 1911.
